ZIN MYO is presenting to camera. He is wearing a mask, but removes it just before he starts talking.

ZIN MYO

We all know that we need to wash our hands frequently, cover our cough, and that we should wear masks to prevent the spread of COVID-19. I do it and we should all keep doing that.

"We all know Covid-19. It is contagious. We need to wash our hands frequently, wear masks, and cover our cough."

But if we want to limit the spread of the virus, so we can re-open society, end the lockdowns and go to work again, in the long term another thing is just as important. It’s a thing we can do ourselves. It’s simple and it’s free: keeping our distance of 6 feet from each other.

I know it’s not always easy. Maybe you have to take public transport or you work in a place where many people work. But still, you can do the following:

From outside we see of ZIN MYO standing in front of a window. He is looking outside. Then two interior shots in quick succession: ZIN MYO reading a newspaper in his living room, and ZIN MYO kneeled in front of his home altar.

ZIN MYO is leaning against his car, and is doing something on his mobile phone. He is laughing.
Perhaps he just received a funny message. A friend passes by, greets and wants to come closer

Every time you actively keep 6 feet distance, you help prevent spreading the virus. 6 feet, that’s about two big steps. If we stop the virus from spreading, we can resume our lives. So, please remember these three words: keep your distance.
He puts on his mask again.
